H1 100W Xenon / Super Plasma lights are the best lighting solution for your vehicle. These 12V lights are supplied in sets of 2 and are designed to revolutionise your driving experience with unrivalled brilliance, clarity and safety

. Using advanced xenon gas technology, the headlamps emit an intense, daylight-like light, reducing eye fatigue when driving at night.

The innovative Super Plasma coating not only increases light efficiency but also gives your car a stylish, modern look. These 100W headlights produce a strong and even light, improving visibility in a wide range of driving conditions. The lights are easy to install, just plug them into your vehicle's socket. Compatible with a wide range of vehicles, these lights are made of the highest quality materials for reliability and durability.

When the bulb glass is coated with a blue coating, it increases the colour temperature of the low beam area without reducing the brightness of the high beam area.

Suitable for both dipped and main beam and even in rain, snow and fog, it has a certain penetrating power to keep the road clear and your journey safe.
